

Thinking Strategies for Middle/High Students

June 29 and 30, 2016

8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. (CDT)

Workshop #106-16

GRREC Office & Training Facility • 230 Technology Way • Bowling Green 42101

The Green River Regional Educational Cooperative is pleased to offer this two-day training appropriate for middle and high school teachers, instructional coaches, curriculum coordinators, and school administrators.

This course will show you how to create a culture of thinking in your classroom. You will learn how to teach students Thinking Strategies that good readers use to increase understanding when reading, speaking, and listening as they interact with text and other learners.

Learning Targets:

- To integrate the Thinking Strategies into classroom instruction so that students become increasingly independent using the strategies as they meet the Common Core Standards
- To recognize the difference between a culture of knowing and a culture of thinking
- To identify the components of the gradual release model and the purpose of each so that teachers can plan instruction that leads to student understanding and use of each Thinking Strategy

Audience: Middle and high school teachers, instructional coaches, curriculum coordinators, and school administrators

Presenters: Barb De Graaf and Betsy Madison
